Aspen
Located 200 miles southwest of Denver and 130 miles east of Grand Junction, Aspen is located at the southeastern end of the Roaring Fork Valley. The Roaring Fork Valley stretches from Glenwood Springs at the Northwest end to Aspen at the Southeast end and is surrounded by the White River National Forest. Aspen, which encompasses 3.66 square miles, sits on the relatively flat valley floor, is bordered on three sides by Aspen, Smuggler and Red Mountains, and is internationally renowned as a winter and summer resort.
